BISMARCK AND WILLIAM.

THERE MAY BE FUN IN THE REICHSTAG.

Serious Revolt in a Chinese Province—The Powers Hesitate to Act—Fatal Collision on an Italian Railway—Threatening the Anarchists.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—As the day for the opening of the Reichstag approaches interest increases in the approaching conflict between the Kaiser and Bismarck. That there will be a conflict no one doubts and there is a half suppressed feeling that it may proceed to extremities. Although out of power, Bismarck is to-day the most influential man in the German Empire. The Kaiser is aware of this, and he is aware that a blow at Bismarck would be widely resented. He bitterly hates the ex-Chancellor, who returns the hate with contempt. The Kaiser has several times spoken of bringing Bismarck under personal discipline, but desisted when he saw that even the most sycophantic of courtiers received the suggestion with dread; but, there is a general feeling, more suggested than expressed, that the antagonism is about to reach a crisis and that the man who made the empire will exasperate beyond measure the young man who wears the crown. It is understood that Bismarck's chief assault will be upon the commercial treaties. It is known that Herbert Bismarck has been for some time collecting statistics as to the condition of German agricultural interests and the probable effect of the treaties opening the German markets to Austria and Hungary. These statistics are to be presented by his father in the Reichstag, and it is expected that they will produce a profound effect upon the representatives of the agricultural community. Bismarck has, it is said, given up the idea for the present of attacking the socialists. He has always spoken of the social democracy as the danger most threatening to the empire, but it is said that he has concluded to be silent on that subject at present, in order not to alienate such sympathy as the socialists in the Reichstag may choose to extend in his parliamentary fight against the Kaiser. Everybody is asking whether Bismarck will reveal any of the causes that led to his withdrawal. There is good authority for saying that he will not enter upon this subject, but will await some invitation or provoking utterance on the part or his opponents. The applications for cards of admission have been so numerous that a multitude have had to be refused.

ANARCHISTS NERVOUS.

LONDON, Nov. 14. — The German anarchist refugees in London are stirred up by a report that the German government proposes to submit a bill in the Reichstag considerably enlarging the power of the police to deal with anarchists and other agitators. Such a bill would, it is feared, become a law.

THE AMERICAN PIG.

HAMBURG, Nov. 14.—Importers interested in the American provision trade charge that there is a conspiracy on the part of certain officials to break down the reputation of American pork by circulating false reports of trichinosis. They claim that the only instances of death from trichinosis have been attributed to German pork eaten nearly or quite raw, and the blame has been laid on the American article to prevent people from buying it.

AFRAID TO FIGHT ALONE.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A Shanghai dispatch says that the English admiral has no authority from his government to enter upon any general hostilities against the Chinese, his duty being confined to taking necessary steps for the prevention and punishment of outrages. The French admiral, however, is in favor of beginning an attack at once, and would do so if he could get the English to join him. The French appear to apprehend that if they should begin a war alone the rest of the powers might leave them to fight it out, involving danger from Tonquin.

REPORTED MASSACRED.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A report reached here this morning to the effect that it was rumored in Paris that the great explorer, De Brazza, who recently left secretly for Africa at the head of a new expedition, has been massacred. It is known that De Brazza left Banghi some time ago with a band of 30 men, intending to push on as far as Lake Tchad. The region which De Brazza was bent on exploring is inhabited by Mussulman Arabs who are the fanatical foes of civilization.

BARONESS VON WALDELSEE DEAD.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—Baroness Von Waldersee, the morganatic wife of Louis Duke of Bavaria, is dead. The Baroness was formerly Fraulien Mendet, and until her marriage was one of the best known artists of the Munich comic stage. To marry her the Duke renounced his right to the succession to the duchy in favor of his brother Charles.

KILLED IN A RAILWAY COLLISION.

ROME, Nov. 14.—A fatal collision between two passenger trains took place 15 miles from here to-day. On board one train was a detachment of cavalry, with chargers. Four cavalrymen, six horses and several railway officials were killed. A number of passengers were seriously injured. The accident was due to neglect of signals.

Eleven Miners Killed.

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—Eleven men were killed by an explosion in a colliery near Essen this morning.

Duplicating Accounts.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—C. P. Huntington, the railroad magnate of California, has come to the assistance of Major Chas. B. Throckmorten, Second Artillery, the army officer who has a charge of indebtedness and duplicating pay accounts pending against him in the War Department. Mr. Huntington has provided funds for paying off all the Major's debts, and it is hoped thus to stave off further proceedings against him. It remains to be seen, however, whether the Department will consider this a sufficient apology for the offence of duplicating pay accounts. The fact just discovered, that he had issued duplicate accounts for the past month in addition to those of the previous month, which form the basis of the formal charges against him, is not likely to operate in his favor, although it is known that Mr. Proctor is disposed to deal leniently with him. The Department has recently received a statement from Major Throckmorten in answer to the charges made against him. He takes the ground that the duplicate accounts were issued as his own private papers, and as only one set of accounts was paid by the Government no fraud was perpetrated, nor was any intended. It was purely a private business transaction which in no way concerned the Government. His statement is being held until the return of Secretary Proctor, who will decide whether or not to order a court martial.

Could Not Fast Long Enough.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Faster G. Henry Stratton has taken to drink and as the conditions upon which he was fasting at one of the museums in the city having been violated, he loses the $500 which was to be his, in addition to half the gate receipts in case he broke the record. He gave way to the tempter at 1 o'clock Wednesday evening and took some champagne because the doctors stated that he could not go longer without stimulants. The conditions were that he should exist on water and air only. This he did for 37 days 1 hour and 3 minutes, but his dizziness and nausea then became acute and it was thought advisable not to let him go on.

No Cannery Syndicate.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—A rumor that an English syndicate was about to purchase all canneries of this city and vicinity is denied. An informal meeting of the leading cannery men was held on Wednesday and the matter of a sale was considered. "They are not English capitalists, however, who are figuring," said Manager Jacobs, of the Lusk Canning company. "I doubt if there will be a sale." Mr. Cutting, of the Cutting Packing Company, also stated substantially the same thing. The managers of the San Jose Packing Company, Wheaton & Luhrs, and others say they have not heard of the matter.

Murdered for His Money.

BRADFORD, Pa., Nov. 13.—Andrew Reilly's dead body was found near the narrow gauge track which winds round Mount Raub. It is a desolate spot in the woods a mile from the city. The neck had been hacked on the right side and on the left side was a deep gash. The body had been divested of coat, vest and hat. The victim was a well-to-do contractor, and it is thought that he may have been killed for his money. His sister, Mary Reilly, was murdered by her lover in 1878 at the same spot, and her slayer, Andrew Tracy, was hanged for the crime.

Yellow Fever on a Ship.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The steamship Alliance, which arrived from Brazil yesterday, had four deaths on board during the passage north, due, it was stated by her officers, to the malarial fever. It is alleged, however, that the men died of yellow fever. It is also stated that there were several cases of yellow fever on board now. The vessel has been passed at quarantine, and her passengers and crew have been allowed to land and scatter over Brooklyn and New York.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Ada Melnott took her 17-year-old son to a dime museum where one of the attractions is a William Tell, yesterday afternoon. She playfully put a potato on her head, remarking to the boy that he could not shoot it off. The boy found a revolver and aiming it pulled the trigger. The revolver was not empty and the bullet lodged in the woman's neck. She will die.

Commercial Cable Stock.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Mackay's cable stock was again to-day one of the special features of the stock market. During the recent panic in London and on the continent this stock showed such remarkable steadiness that on the stock exchange yesterday and to-day it rose to 138, closing at that bid, with none for sale under 139.

Horrible Double Murder.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—A horrible double murder was committed last night, the victims of which are Mrs. Gretzen Lenzenhager, who kept a saloon, and her 15-year-old son George. The woman was choked to death and the boy beaten and choked. The murder was evidently for the purpose of robbery. There is no clue to the murderers.

Charged With Wrongdoing.

OTTAWA, Nov. 14.—John Tilton, Deputy Minister of Fisheries, has been reported for wrongdoing in office by Mr. Tupper, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, to the commission appointed to investigate irregularities in the civil service. This has nothing to do with the old charges against Tilton.

Boss Buckley in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—Christopher Buckley, the blind politician boss of San Francisco, under indictment in that city charged with having received money for obtaining the passage of certain measures by the former board of supervisors, has established himself in this city apparently for the winter.

Westminster Art Club.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 14.—An enthusiastic meeting of artists, amateur and otherwise, last night formed an art club, which starts with a membership of 20 and good prospects of success.

THE SABAH SPLIT IN TWO

THE FIRST GALE WILL BLOW HER TO PIECES.

The Captain's Wife Narrowly Escapes Drowning—The Crew Suffer From Exposure and Hunger—Thieving Indians Steal Their Blankets.

Special to the TIMES.

CARMANAH SIGNAL STATION, Nov. 14.—The Sarah lies split in two on a big rock at Pachena Point, her bow partly out of the water and the tide flowing in and out of her hold. Nothing of her spars remain standing, and the first blow will completely demolish her. She is owned by Atkinson & Co. Liverpool, England. Mate McCurdy and nine men had an eventful trip in reaching this point in the ship's boat. They had no idea where they were, but thought they must be on the Vancouver Island coast, and that by steering east by south should make the entrance to the straits. They left Pachena on Sunday evening and rowed 26 miles through the rough, unknown sea, nearly perishing from cold and exposure, wet and hunger, with their boat knee deep with the icy cold water. They sighted Carmanah light in the early morning. This was taken for Flattery light, the Carmanah light not being on their chart. They were sighted by Daykin's boys and guided through the heavy surf by pistol shots to the land, their boats running in between two lines of fierce breakers. Had they got into this surf not a man would have lived to tell the tale of their trip.

While landing from the ship the captain's wife, Mrs. Greenhalgh, had a narrow escape from death. The boat with her aboard had just about reached the beach when it was caught in the great towering breakers. The boat was whirled over and landed on the beach with Mrs. Greenhalgh underneath. She was immediately caught by the sailors and dragged ashore in an unconscious condition. Since then she has been lapsing from one fit of hysterics into another. She will be all right, however, soon. Her child is two months old, and was landed safely.

The crew have not saved a thing, and Mate McCurdy's clothing divided up amongst them is all they have. The Indians stole everything they could lay their hands on. One sailor gathered up five blankets, piled them on top of him and lay down on the beach to try and get warm. When he awoke he had but one blanket, the Indians having appropriated the remainder.

Only about ten or eleven Indians were on the scene of the disaster, the remainder being away. About 300 Indians are holding a big potlatch near Carmanah. They have about 800 gallons of whiskey, smuggled across from Neah Bay, and trouble amongst them is anticipated. One chief has given away $1500. It is a common thing for these Indians to smuggle whiskey wholesale across from Neah Bay.

The steamer Mystery, which came down to rescue the shipwrecked crew, proceeded down the coast to pick up the captain, wife and the rest of the crew. She intended to visit the wreck.

Thermometer 41; barometer, high; clear, calm sea. A steamer is about 25 or 30 miles due west and may be some craft from China. A bark is about ten miles west, beating in.

LOST IN THE STORM.

Many Lives Lost in European Waters This Week.

PARIS, Nov. 13. — The recent gale caused an immense amount of damage in all parts of France and a number of persons were killed. Several vessels were wrecked at Fecamp, on the English channel, but only one man was drowned. Late smacks of Cherbourg, with their crews, numbering ten men are missing.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 13.—The storm fell with unusual severity throughout Belgium. At Antwerp shipping in the Scheldt suffered severely. Much damage was done at Ghent and other places.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The bark which yesterday stranded off Kinsale, Ireland, is the Gylfe, from Quebec, October 1, for Liverpool. The life-saving crew at Kinsale finally succeeded in rescuing the captain and four officers, but all the other men on the bark were drowned.

The number of those who lost their lives in the stranding of the Gylfe is seven. Disasters caused by the storm continue to be received. News is just received in this city of the loss at sea of the British steamer Fairfield. No lives were lost.

The British ship Talisman, from Tacoma June 12, for Havre, passed Deal to-day. She reports that she was thrown upon her beam ends in a hurricane yesterday, and her cargo shifted, so that it was necessary to jettison fifty tons of wheat. Much damage was done the vessel by the storm.

At Ramsgate, on the west coast of the Isle of Thanet, four fishermen were drowned.

There is great excitement in the south portion of the Irish Sea over the probable drowning of the crew of the Southport lifeboat, which went out yesterday to attempt to save the crew of a vessel in distress at that place. There is hardly a doubt among those acquainted with the dangerous coast that the lifeboat foundered and every soul in her has found a watery grave.

At Skibbereen a number of houses were damaged; also the trees and crops.

MADRID, Nov. 13.—Five men of a Spanish man-of-war were drowned off Vila Gartia, on the Galician coast, yesterday. The Spanish sloop Julie was wrecked during the same storm near Bilbao. Eight men, forming the crew, were drowned.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—In the weather-beaten parish church at Folkstone a service of thanks was held for the divine mercy in the terrible experience of the previous day. The survivors of the Bienvenue and of the lifeboat crews were present and the church was filled with seagoing people. The pastor delivered a sermon appropriate to the occasion.

CHICAGO ANARCHISTS.

The Police Break Up a Meeting and Make Some Arrests.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—One hundred policeman, under the leadership of Inspector E. Lyman Lewis, marched down on an Anarchist meeting in Grief's Hall, at 554 West Lake street, last night. The moment the first squad of police, headed by Lieut. Wheeler, burst in upon the Anarchists, a man named Daniel Sutter, who claims to hail from Buffalo, N.Y., reached for a revolver in his pocket, but before he could use it officers overpowered and disarmed him.

Sutter made a desperate resistance, biting and kicking the officers until the irons were put on, and he was hustled off to the station, fighting like a mad bull all the way.

The 25 or 30 men who were sitting in the bar room tried to force their way out to the street, but were prevented by the police. Every man in the saloon was then searched for weapons.

While this was going on another squad of police dashed up the narrow stairway into the halls above.

"The police are coming, lock the door," shouted a man in the meeting, on the second floor. The door was quickly barred, and the 25 men who were assembled in this dingy little hall making inflammatory speeches waited for the attack. Only one man made any resistance. His name is Henry Miller.

"D——the police," he shouted, "they are cowards or else they would not draw their revolvers on inoffensive men."

Two officers grabbed Miller and searched him. He had a big revolver and fought desperately before he could be taken.

Several copies of the speech delivered by Parsons on the night of the bomb-throwing in Haymarket square were found in a box in the hall.

After the building had been thoroughly searched, about 30 of the most rabid Anarchists were taken to the station. Some of them were booked for carrying concealed weapons, and others for making inflammatory speeches calculated to incite riot.

The seventeen Anarchists, arrested at last night's meeting, were arraigned in the justice's court this morning. Complaints were made against them, some for resisting officers, others for carrying concealed weapons and for disorderly conduct. Several police officers were examined, and their evidence practically was the same as the story of last night's arrest.

Sunk by a Collision.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A cablegram was received here late yesterday that the steamer Ciudad Condal, of the Spanish trans-Atlantic line, had come into collision with a Mexican coasting steamer. The coaster sank with all on board, and the Ciudan Condal put into Progresso for repairs. The agents of the steamer in this city said they knew nothing of the collision until told about it by a reporter. They were very much surprised to hear of the disaster. Consul General of Spain Topete received a cablegram from Havana in which the above facts were corroborated. Ramon Y. Williams, the Mexican vice-consul, said such an accident had happened. After consulting several lists and books he concluded that the coaster reported sunk was one of three vessels, the Tabasco, Phœnix or Concepcion. The report of the accident spread in Spanish American business circles, and many persons who have friends or relatives on board the vessel were busy telegraphing for information. The general belief is that the night was foggy. The Ciudad Condal is of English build and carries a crew of 70 men.

Rev. Sam Small Beaten.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 13.—Sam Small, the noted evangelist, was attacked this morning and severely beaten by Tom Minor, an Atlanta saloon-keeper. The liquor man's fists were wielded with great force, and the sensational preacher came out of the encounter with a badly bruised nose and black eyes. Last Sunday the reverend gentleman delivered an address to a large crowd, on prohibition in Atlanta, and after attacking the character of several whisky-dealers charged Tom Minor with deserting his family, leaving them to starve. Minor saw Small enter a barber shop this morning and followed him. As Small hung his overcoat up he started toward a chair, when Minor struck him on the nose. Small fell, and before he could rise Minor kicked him in the face. Small's face is badly bruised, his under lip is cut and he has lost three teeth.

After Whales.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—A whaling party of fifteen, under the leadership of Captain Bill Thomas, left yesterday for a new whaling station lately built on the coast at a point between Santa Barbara and Point Conception, where kelp is found in great abundance. The station is equipped with two large whaleboats, guns and a cooperage outfit. The variety of whales that it is expected to secure is the "California Gray," which is also known by the name of "Goosebill" and "Muddigger." These whales are only good for oil, and run from twenty to eighty barrels apiece, with thirty barrels as a general average. Captain Thomas is an old time Arctic whaler, and some years ago was interested with Captain Smith in making a survey for a proposed cable between Alaska and Siberia.

The Rival Steam Yachts.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—W. R. Hearst, owner of the steam yacht Vamoose, wants to know why a race cannot be arranged with Norman L. Munroe, owner of the steam launch Norwood. Last night Mr. Heilbron, engineer of the Vamoose, received from Mr Hearst, who is in San Francisco, the following telegram: "See if you cannot have a race arranged positively and for a definite date and as soon as possible. If everybody is ready, why can't the race come off? Be sure, however, that in the race no boat is permitted to carry steam in excess of the limit allowed by law."

DOMINION NOTES.

Recent Events Reported by Mail and Wire From the East.

Singer Bros., retail dry goods, Toronto, have assigned, liabilities $12,000.

Wm. A. Irons, painter, of Cornwall, was suffocated while asleep by smoke from the stove.

The United States Government is to be asked to extradite the notorious forger named Chamberlain.

Hon. Samuel Chipman, of Halifax, who celebrated his hundred and first birthday on Oct. 18th, is dead.

Bishop Racine, of Sherbrooke, left Saturday for Rome, accompanied by Abbe Proulx, vice-rector of Laval.

Dr. Spohn, M.P. for East Simcoe, and Mr. Forbes, M.P. for Queen's, N.S., both Liberals, have been unseated.

The City Flouring Mill and Elevator, Montreal, belonging to Ira Gould & Sons, have been sold to W. W. Ogilvie for $250,0000.

A mining expert has returned from an exploration tour of British Columbia with some of the finest specimens of silver quartz ever seen in Ottawa.

Alex. Davis, Samuel Downey and Reuben Shaw have been sentenced at Halifax to ten, four and three years respectively for the murder of Robert Mullen.

T. G. Shaugnessy, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, left Montreal on Wednesday for Vancouver, en route to Japan, intending to be absent three months.

At Williamstown, Miss MacDonald, sister of Mrs. P. Purcell, had her clothing set on fire by the upsetting of a lamp, and was so badly injured that she died in a few hours.

J. Sampson and Dr. Mackenzie, of Kingston, who own 1800 acres of land in the Souris district, Northwest Territories, have been notified that a rich seam of coal has been found on the property.

Edward Fogarty and F. R. Bryant, boys charged with the larceny of $500 from the former's grandmother, who lives at Foxtown, N.Y., have been taken home from Toronto in charge of a detective.

S. Watson, one of Montreal's merchant princes, and for some time a director of the Bank of Montreal, died suddenly in New York lately. He was head of the Montreal rolling mills, and was aged 57.

David Allen, of Magnetawan, left home a month ago to examine his bear traps. Recently his body was found in a clump of bushes with his hand securely fastened in a bear trap. It is evident that Allen had starved to death.

A family named Alliss, of Amherstburg, had a narrow escape from death by suffocation by coal gas. It happened through forgetting to close the proper dampers. When found the entire family, four in number, were in an unconscious state.

The fisheries cruiser, built at Owen Sound for the Dominion Government, was launched yesterday. She is 175 feet long, built of steel, will make 12 knots an hour and carries three guns. She will be taken to the Gulf of St. Lawrence for service.

A Petrolea boy aged about 11 years, the son of Mr. Charles B. Mullen, it is reported, was on the cow-catcher of a switch engine on the M.C.R., and by some means the boy fell off, the engine going over part of his head and crushing him to death instantly.

The defendants in the Connolly book case, Sedgwick and Todd, have furnished security to the amount of $3000 as ordered by the court for the production of these books. The bondsmen are J. A. Charlebois and John Show, of Quebec. It now remains to be seen whether the books will be forthcoming.

The Empire's Montreal correspondent declares that another great scandal will be unearthed in a few days in connection with the railway bridge at Rigaud, on the line of the Montreal and Ottawa railway, as he learns that no less than $30,000 was bagged by the Mercier clique on this single structure.

Rev. J. A. Smith, who for the past six months has been an energetic revivalist and temperance worker in Toronto, is missing, and his wife and friends are much concerned about him. The clergyman was last seen on Friday afternoon. According to his own statement he is not in any financial trouble, and there seems to be no reason for his absence.

The counsel for petitioner in the King's, N.S., election case to unseat Bowden, M.P., was served by counsel for respondent with a notice stating that respondent will admit that an agent of his did hire and pay for a horse and team to convey voters to and from the polls, without the consent of the respondent. This is said to be sufficient to render the election invalid.

A disease said to be hog cholera has broken out among the pigs in Kingston district. A large number of animals have died within a few days. The hog cholera has made its appearance among the hogs of a breeder near Brantford. Already on the government inspector's orders 50 of the animals have been destroyed, and probably the remainder, numbering 80, may have to be killed.

The Canadian Pacific officials at Montreal deny the reports that a grain blockade exists in Manitoba. They say dispatches from Robert Kerr, general freight agent for the western division, indicate that there is no lack of cars, and that large operators and millers are perfectly satisfied at the manner in which wheat is being got to Fort William and the different mills in the province.

At Bloomfield, Ont., Emery Ferguson and Joseph Rogers, Salvation Army men, were stoned by a party of five, one of whom named Bowerman also struck Ferguson twice. Ferguson drew a revolver saying he would defend himself and Bowerman seized it. A struggle for its possession followed, during which it was discharged, the bullet entering Ferguson's abdomen and inflicting a fatal wound.

The Mail's Quebec correspondent says: "The Government at Ottawa is manifesting considerable hesitancy about accepting the candidature of R. R. Dobell for Quebec West. The fact is, Dobell is not strong enough to carry the division, and not knowing his own weakness persists in remaining in the field. It is reported P. Kerwin, late of the Dominion Labor commission, may be an Independent Conservative candidate. He would probably poll many more votes in the division than Dobell would.

The steamer Fastnet, of Halifax, was in collision at Charlottetown, P.E.I., yesterday during a fog with the steamer Heather Bell, and the latter sank 10 minutes afterwards. The Heather Bell's stern was cut clean off from deck to keel. Her passengers were transferred to the Fastnet, and no lives were lost. The damage to the Fastnet is trifling.

The monument erected by the citizens of Quebec to Major Short and Sergeant Wallick, R.C.A., who lost their lives through the premature explosion of two barrels of gunpowder while they were blowing up buildings during the great fire of May, 1889, was unveiled yesterday by Mayor Fremont. An oration was delivered by Premier Mercier. Cardinal Taschereau was present.

Calgary Tribune:—There was a little stir about the C.P.R. station on Wednesday when Con. Dee, of the N.W.M.P., seized five barrels of whiskey. The owners of the liquor loomed up and stated that it was all right. A permit had been obtained for the stuff, but the man in possession of the necessary documentary evidence of this fact was out of town for the day. He would, they said, return in the evening and make everything right. They moreover said that the liquor was intended for a banquet which was to come off in the near future. The constable, while not disbelieving the statements, concluded to hold on to the stuff till he had been satisfied that it had come through legally. He left the liquor at the station while he went to his evening meal. Now the whiskey was put up in beer barrels, and as soon as Dee had left the scene five barrels of beer were substituted and the whiskey was carted off.

Another fatal stone-throwing fracas occurred in the township of Mono, not far from the famous Glencross, where the scene of the Atkinson-Scott affair was laid. On the 17th of October last, William Shinnaman, Sr., and William Shinnaman, Jr., father and son, farmers, were at Galbraith's Hotel, Hockley, where they met John Appleton, a Montgomery farmer, east of Luther township. The two Shinnamans and Montgomery entered into a transaction for the purchase of a horse owned by the latter. They disagreed over the deal and a row ensued, a row which it is alleged Wm. Shinnaman picked up a stone from the road and struck Montgomery on the head, causing a severe fracture of the skull. About ten days after he died, and the coroner's jury said that death was caused by a blow of a stone. Shinnaman was arrested and charged with manslaughter, but the elder is out on bail.

The prices low. Then purchase here;
Of imposition never fear.
There's not a store this side the Sound
That boasts such goods, take all around.
It matters not what you require,
It's right there at your heart's desire.
If you've but little time to spare,
The car for five cents takes you there,
And you will prove tho' small's the fee
You've saved in profits three times three.
Without one bit exaggeration
The store's the best throughout the nation.
Then don't forget to come for to go
To the well-known store—the TORONTO.

AN INFORMAL MEETING.

On Account of No Quorum Nothing is Done in the School Trustee Matter.

The continued meeting of the Board of Aldermen to consider the charges against Chairman Hayward of the Board of School Trustees, was called in the committee room at the City Hall last evening.

When the meeting was called to order there were present Aldermen McKillican, Coughlan, Holland, Renouf, Munn and Robertson. Ald. McKillican was placed in the chair and the work proceeded with.

One of the members thought that as the matter had been left to the Mayor to get instructions from the city barrister as to the legality of the act, in his absence, and in the absence of any communication from them, suggested that nothing could be done.

Ald. Renouf did not think any legal question as to the working of the act was necessary, as it was only for them to decide whether the chairman exceeded his powers or not.

Ald. Munn asked if it would be a legal meeting, inasmuch as it had been called for 7 o'clock and no quorum had been present at that hour.

The chairman held that no legal proceedings could be gone on with, as there had been no quorum at the hour appointed for the meeting.

At this point Mayor Grant entered the room, and taking his seat, said he would informally inform the board that the city barristers were not prepared to give an opinion on the legal aspect of the question at issue until the case had been submitted to them in writing. It was a subject, in the Mayor's opinion, which was liable to different translations, and it would perhaps be better to have it legally submitted.

Ald. Renouf did not think it an important matter for the board to decide whether the chairman of the trustees had exceeded his powers or not.

A letter from J. N. Muir regarding the question at issue was in the hands of the city clerk, addressed to the Board of Aldermen, but it was laid over on the ground that the board had not met to receive the opinions of others. The letter will come up at the next regular meeting.

Desultory conversation ensued, the Mayor suggesting that the four trustees appointed by the board had best meet and discuss the matter amicably, and then submit the result of their deliberations to the legal barristers.

Ald. Renouf thought a test question would be, "Have the trustees any powers which may not at any moment be taken away by the Provincial Government?".

The Mayor said that if the action of the chairman of the trustees complained of by three of them in overriding the wishes of the majority of the board, had been an action calculated to check an illegal proceeding, it could hardly be said that the chairman was wrong. A similar case might arise in the Board of Aldermen. The question, however, should be decided by legal authorities.

Ald. Holland thought it was not so much a legal phase as the simple question, "Has Mr. Hayward violated the trust reposed in him by the Board of Aldermen?"

Mayor Grant thought it very unfortunate that the question had ever been brought before the board at all.

Ald. Munn was of opinion that the trustees were like schoolboys who wanted to get their big brothers to fight for them.

Ald. Renouf thought that if the city controlled its own schools no trouble like this would ever turn up.

The meeting then informally adjourned.

MR. HAYWARD ANSWERS.

Mr. Chas. Hayward, chairman of the trustees, presented the following letter to the board, as it replied categorically to the charges made against him by the three recalcitrant members:—

To His Worship the Mayor and City Council.

GENTLEMEN,—The charges against me are that I believe in exercising unwarrantable power; in curtailing the power, usefulness and dignity of the Trustee Board, and arrogating to myself the powers of the whole board, and in proof thereof allege:

1st.—That I instructed the secretary to request the principal of the Boys' school to defer carrying out the resolution of the board.

Answer—I deny the allegation, and, in proof of my denial, produce the letter referred to, which entirely and utterly refutes the charge.

2nd.—They say that I instructed the secretary to name certain individuals as guilty of truancy, etc., contrary to the resolution.

Answer—To this also I give an emphatic denial, and in proof produce the resolution of the board and the secretary's letter in connection therewith. I admit having brought the truancy complaint to the notice of the board, and when it was agreed that it should be referred to the Superintendent of Education I felt justified in giving to the secretary, at his request, the details of which he had no notes, in order that the clearly expressed views of the board "that the Superintendent should take the matter under his consideration," might have effect. But that letter is not mine, nor does it purport to be from me, nor did I instruct the secretary to write it. That the details as given by me are fair and truthful, I produce an acknowledgement to that effect from the original complainant.

Third and lastly, in further proof of my arrogance, etc., your petitioners say that by my casting vote the resolution of 21st October was cancelled.

Answer—This is the only truthful allegation they have made. That I had the right to vote as my conscience dictated was, I think, admitted by you at our last conference. You have the right however, to know what reasons I have for voting in this way, and I am pleased at this opportunity of giving them in detail.

1. Because two monitors were given to us (in excess of the estimates) for certain defined positions, which the trustees had accepted (see letter book, page 3; minutes, page 135; letter book, page 8, letters from Council, Sept. 1st and Oct. 24th,) and to place them elsewhere, was, in my opinion, a breach of agreement, and dishonorable to any public body.

2. Because the instructions to Mr. Netherby involved changes in the teaching staff, which, in the middle of the term, seriously interfered with the organization of the school; were unjust to the teachers and detrimental to the educational interests of the pupils.

3. Because this effort of the trustees to thus meddle with the internal arrangements of the school, against the wishes of the Supt. of Education, was contrary to the School Act, and a stultification of their own resolutions, as expressed at the board meetings of Sept. 1st and Oct. 21st.

Therefore, gentlemen, I feel bound to say that if these reasons do not meet your approval—if you deliberately decide that the same regard to honor and obligation is not to exist between two public bodies as is demanded and enforced between private citizens; if you consider that the interests of education and the dignity of the board are best conserved by violating the provisions of the School Act, and by acts of inconsistency in the board itself—then I regret to say that our views so hopelessly differ that I cannot longer remain as your nominee to represent opinions with which I have nothing in common.

CHAS. HAYWARD.

Nov. 13, 1891.

OUR SCHOOL BOARD.

TO THE EDITOR.—That the Colonist is intentionally trying to mislead the public is clear from its articles reflecting on the city school board, and to please the government from which it receives its pap it maligns the character of the gentlemen composing that board. It contends that because the school law works well in New Westminster, Vancouver and Nanaimo, it therefore would work well here, were it not for the opposition offered by the trustees of Victoria. Now, the Colonist knows well that the subject in dispute between the trustees of the city and the Education Department has never, up to the present moment, been brought before the notice of the trustee boards of those cities. How then can it proclaim that a law is workable which has never been tested in those cities? Victoria, owing to her large population and larger attendance of boys at the public schools, must first test the law, or that portion of it in dispute here. It was found necessary recently and for the first time in the educational career of this province, to subdivide one important division of a school and place the sections in charge of two teachers. The Colonist then is decidedly premature in stating that this portion of the act "works well" in Vancouver. But a point like the above involving no additional outlay would not be forced at Vancouver. The government would graciously yield the question to that city. It is only Victoria that needs to contest such a trifle.

The Colonist states that there is "no distinction between Government appointees and corporation appointees in other cities of the Dominion." This, no doubt, is true, for in "other cities" the Government does not make political appointees there mere creatures. That the Government of B. C. will have no appointee of theirs in Victoria to interpret the school law according to his own convictions is now known, since one gentleman has already succumbed for being so presumptuous. Why, sir, it is clear the Government would dismiss all their appointees if they dared to exercise their private opinions.

Again, the Colonist, misrepresents when it claims that the trustees wish "absolute jurisdiction" over teachers. The trustees claim the rights which the law gives them and no more. Let any unbiassed person read sections 33 and 50 of the act, and he will see that the trustees have all the power they wish, and in having that have all the Council of Public Instruction would wrest from them.

SECTION THIRTY-THREE.

The Colonist objects to the statement that its articles on the school question have been characterized by untruthfulness and misrepresentation, but, singularly enough, it immediately afterwards justifies the charge by committing a fresh offence. It now represents the three city Trustees and the TIMES as contending that the School Board is not bound by that clause of the statute which says that it shall "appoint the number of teachers for whose salaries provision has been made in the estimates." It says:

If the power of appointing teachers is unlimited, as the minority of the Board of Trustees contend, then the words restricting the number to those for whose salaries provision has been made in the estimates would be mere surplusage, having no meaning or force or effect at all.

The majority of the Board have not contended that "the power of appointing teachers is unlimited," neither has the TIMES. If it is not dishonest to put in men's mouths arguments which they never thought of offering and to evade the point at issue by misrepresenting an opponent's position, will the Colonist please furnish us with an appropriate epithet. We say plainly that the Board of Trustees has no power to appoint more than the number of teachers provided for in the Supply Act, and the Board, so far as we know, is unanimously of the same opinion. But the Act does not restrain the Board from prescribing the particular work which the teachers shall do when they are appointed under the authority of Section 33; on the contrary the Board is specially enjoined to see that the work is done properly. Read in any other light, the clause laying on the Board the duty of providing "sufficient tuition" is meaningless and appears to have been uselessly inserted in the Act. No doubt the Government intended the Act to work according to their interpretation of it; but the Trustees have to take the law as it is, not as the Government would have it.

MR. FOSTER ON RECIPROCITY.

Minister of Finance Foster has been interviewed on the question of reciprocity as affected by the late elections in the States, and expressed his views as follows:

It is a difficult matter to read national results from three or four important State elections, as sometimes the issues are local. In Ohio the issue was more on the free silver coinage question than the tariff and it is impossible to tell what a year may show from the standing of the two parties. On the whole I gather that the McKinley Bill stands a fair chance to remain the law for several years and without doubt the agricultural clauses will be fully maintained. This will preclude anyone concluding that a change to the advantage of agricultural products and their admission into the United States will be brought about by Congressional legislation. It does not follow, however, that it will change the status of the reciprocity question. The U. S. Cabinet and Congress may retain their present tariff intact, yet be willing and able to make an agreement with Canada whereby for mutual advantage the tariff on certain conditions may be reduced or abolished. It depends upon the willingness of the United States to enter into negotiations with that end in view. The probability is they will result in an arrangement which could be accepted with honor and advantage.

The probability is Mr. Foster will find that the kind of reciprocity which the Canadian Government intends to offer is not the kind that the United States Government is inclined to accept. It has been very plainly intimated that the Blaine idea of reciprocity involves a quid pro quo, and in his letter to Congressman Baker Mr. Blaine quite explicitly pointed out that the proposals of the Canadian Government as outlined at the time of the general election did not come up to his ideal. It is possible that the Abbott Government may have determined on further concessions, such as may suit the requirements of Mr. Blaine, but in that case it must alienate the affections of the Red Parlor. It is hardly likely that the Washington people will agree to anything short of free and unrestricted reciprocity, and that the Abbott Government cannot offer without cutting loose from its manufacturer friends.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is now reported that Mr. Peter White, Speaker of the Commons, is to take Mr. John Haggart's place in the Cabinet. It is to be hoped that the report is true, for if we must have a Conservative Government for a time it would be well to have it as respectable as possible. Mr. Haggart, however, is quite as respectable as Mr. Chapleau.

Mr. Ouimet, who was admitted to the Cabinet as a concession to Chapleau, thus spoke to a reporter: "I accepted the honor offered me because I believed it was the only means to put an end to complications which would prove, if not fatal, at least injurious to the Conservative party. I shall occupy my new position as long as my friends believe I am useful. I assure you I have no intention of eternizing myself in the Cabinet. I cannot say what portfolio will be given me, as that is the secret of the First Minister."

TWO PITIABLE CASES.

TO THE EDITOR:—If there exists a society of ladies in this city to aid the weak, their attention should be called to the fathers and mothers of two families residing in the eastern part of the city. Day and night these people spend in drinking and worrying their neighbors. Their poor children suffer from hunger and cold. Such a state of things should not be allowed to exist in our civilized city. HUMANITY.

OLD FOLKES' HOME.

TO THE EDITOR:—One of the most worthy institutions in Victoria is the home for our aged and poor, but the object sought for by our charitable citizens will not be accomplished if a poor old man named Francis Cregan is allowed to remain in the provincial gaol. Cregan is 90 years old. He is a pensioner, and is not serving out a sentence, but is living there because he has no home. Since the opening of the indigent home Cregan expected to be removed, but he still remains in the gaol wearing a prisoner's uniform and living on prisoner's fare. At 90 years of age, and after serving his country, this man is deserving of a place to pass the short time left on this earth. D.

The electric bath tubs are composed of soap stone, and the medicated bath tubs of porcelain, so as never to be infectious. References of patients already treated and benefitted in Victoria, will be cheerfully given. Terms moderate; consultation free. Hours: from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, from 2 to 6 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. Sundays, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. 76 Yates street, one door below Broad.

CRIMINAL WORK!

The Press Speaks Boldly!

AS BAD AS BURGLARS AND MURDERERS!

They Should be Looked After!

The "Philadelphia Times," in a very recent article, speaks strongly in regard to criminal plumbing and its results. It says:—"In point of fact the sanitary plumbing proclaimed and professed to be practiced by the organized master plumbers is seldom enforced. Most of their work is hidden from ordinary notice, and they largely make their profits by dishonest practices. The ignorant or dishonest plumber will sow the seeds of death in every home if he is allowed to do the plumbing, no matter how well he is watched or paid. There is no excuse for ignorance of poisonous gases in a home. The plumber who deliberately puts imperfect work in the hidden parts of a house, and thus exposes a family to disease and death, is as much a criminal as any burglar or murderer. He knows that the diffusion of poisonous gases destroys health and imperils life, and when he deliberately leaves hidden vents in plumbing for sewer gas to carry its deadly fumes into homes, he is a criminal and should be treated and punished as a criminal."

Sad to relate, our experience in Canada in plumbing work is quite on a par with that in the United States. A large proportion of prevailing sickness is due to the unsanitary condition of plumbing work in our ordinary dwelling houses, where the young and old, the healthy and suffering, spend a great portion of their time.

Under existing circumstances, and until the strong arm of the law can furnish relief, we would sound a note of warning to all who are predisposed to disease—to those who are not rugged in health, and who are nervous, sleepless, irritable, dyspeptic, rheumatic and who cannot boast of perfect blood circulation; to such we would say, you require nature's great invigorator and health restorer, Paine's Celery Compound. There is no other known remedy that will so quickly or so effectually drive away the lingering seeds of disease, which so often produces typhoid fever. Paine's Celery Compound, given to the children when indisposed and feverish, will ward off diphtheria, and will give them great vitality. Every Canadian home should be furnished with a bottle of this true and honest remedy, to which every ailing member of the family should have access. Physicians everywhere recommend and prescribe it. Take hold of it in time, and avoid the dangerous effects of a polluted atmosphere.

FARMING IN GUATEMALA.

Something About the People and Climate of the Country.

We could not get along without the Indians, says a Guatemala planter. They do all the work commonly expected of peasants. They raise wheat, coffee, rice, and, in short, do the husbandry. The country would fall flat without them. They make excellent hands on the plantation. I have between one thousand five hundred and two thousand of them on my estates, and I find that they are far more manageable than the whites, more docile. When I first began hiring them they would work for eighteen cents a day, but now there has been a stronger demand for them and they are getting thirty-seven cents. These Indians seem to hold their own pretty well and are not dying out as in this country. Besides the Indians, there is a race of half-breeds who are rather more inclined to commerce. The climate of Guatemala is far better than most people imagine. On the coast and in the lowlands it is hot and full of fever. My estates lie on the slope three thousand feet above the sea level, and the table lands where the wheat is grown lie from five thousand to ten thousand feet above the level. At my place the climate is delightful—perpetual spring. We can raise two crops of wheat a year in many parts of Guatemala, and the soil is wonderfully rich. The principal exports are coffee and sugar, but excellent rice is grown there, mostly for home consumption. A curious thing about the rice is that it can be grown without flooding or irrigation. In other parts of the world one of these two processes is necessary. But I have planted it on a hillside and it bears fine, full grains, equal to the best from the Carolinas.

Booming Russell for Governor.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 13.—The Globe this morning in a triple leaded editorial advocates the nomination of Governor Wm. E. Russell for president. It gives to him the credit of placing Massachusetts in the doubtful column of states, and claims that if nominated for president he would carry the state, with its fifteen electoral votes, for the Democratic party.

M. Humber & Sons have commenced the erection of a two-storey salt warehouse on Mr. R. Finlayson's property adjoining Turner, Beeton & Co.'s wharf. It is to be used by Messrs. J. H. Todd & Company.

Fell from a Church.

Jos. Gallant, who fell from the new English church at Wellington yesterday, is not expected to live. He is a man 29 years of age and formerly kept the Planters' Hotel at Sprague, Wash., where he has a wife and three children. His mother lives in Boston.

At Beaver Rock Again.

The Dominion Government have again put men to work on Beaver rock in the inner harbor to blast it out. Work was first commenced on this rock nearly 15 years ago, but it still remains a hindrance to navigation. The engineers expect to do away with it altogether this winter.

Committed for Trial.

The case of John Day, charged with receiving stolen goods was continued in the police court all day yesterday, the evidence of the two men of the bark Lebu who were arrested on Wednesday being taken. It was about 5:30 when his Honor committed the prisoner to stand his trial at the coming assizes.

Big Tea Freight.

A cable dispatch received here states that the Upton steamship Zambesi sailed from Yokohama for Portland on Tuesday last. She brings a full cargo, and should reach Victoria December 1. She has 4,000,000 pounds of tea on board, or enough to load ten trains of 20 cars each. She has also a thousand boxes of Japanese oranges.

Sale of Work.

An excellent opportunity will be afforded to purchase useful and fancy articles suitable for Xmas presents, by visiting the sale of work of the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian congregation of Cedar Hill (Rev. D. McRae), in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church on Tuesday afternoon and evening next. Supper will be served from 5 to 8 for 25 cents. Admission 10 cents.

Burnt Out of Home.

Sheriff Redgrave, father of Officer Redgrave of this city, had the misfortune to be burnt out of house and home last Wednesday. Fortunately no one was injured, although the occurrence was a severe shock to Mrs. McDowell, who had been confined to the house for the past seven weeks with illness. She was gotten out in time and placed in safe quarters before she received any bodily injury.

Further Particulars.

Mr. E. H. Hiscock, of this city, has received further particulars of the wreck of the bark Charlwood, by which accident Mr. Hiscock's brother, Capt. Hiscock, his wife, son, governess and 12 of the crew were drowned. The cause of the collision had not been learned when the letter left Liverpool. The only one in the captain's family rescued was his 13-year-old daughter, who clung on to a piece of plank until she was picked up.

Accidental Shooting.

The national Thanksgiving Day was quietly celebrated at Vancouver, outside sports being the favorite attraction. Amongst others Dr. Adolphus Langis, one of the best known and most popular physicians in the Northwest, spent the day shooting at the butts, across the inlet. While handling his rifle carelessly a cartridge exploded, the bullet passing through the doctor's cheek and coming out at the top of his head. His chances of recovery and death are about even.

Got No Freight.

The Canadian Pacific steamer Grandholm, which has been at Portland for two weeks, waiting for cargo, has gone back to Vancouver without any flour. Heretofore a share of this traffic has been given the Canadian Pacific, instead of giving it all to the Upton line, but, owing to the break-down of the machinery of the Portland Flouring Mills there is not so much flour on hand as usual; and, as the Upton steamer Sussex is in Portland and will leave for Japan and China in a week, she will get all the flour there is to go.

The New Lodge I.O.O.F.

Acme Lodge, I.O.O.F., was opened last evening and the officers installed by the Grand Officers. Those elected are: Bro. W. H. Cullen, N.G.; Bro. W. G. Carson, V.G.; Bro. Thos. Collins, Rec. Sec.; Bro. Thos. Tubman, Per. Sec.; Bro. J. Jackson, treasurer. The following were the appointed officers: G. F. Giles, conductor; D. Climo, outer guard; A. Cameron, inner guard; G. W. Edwards, R.S. to N.G.; R. McEachren, L.S. to N.G.; Chas. Strong, R.S. to V.G.; D. A. Henry, L.S. to V.G.; John McEachren, R.S.S.; C. S. Pearson, L.S.S.

The City Police Court.

There was a mixed assembly before his honor the Police Magistrate this morning. J. H. McGregor's treasury will be reduced by the sum of fifty dollars for supplying liquor to Indians. If he should not care to pay that amount he has the privilege of spending a month as the guest of Mr John on Topaz avenue. William Kellahan and Peter O'Boyle sang a duet about vagrancy. His honor, who did not permit of an encore, sent the coon's to jail in search of work. L. Leger had some fun with a friend's face, for which he paid the court the sum of $2.50 and $2 costs of the entertainment; and Wm. Wenger, who was "trying his gun" on Beacon Hill park, was allowed to depart with a caution and nothing more.

Another P. & M. Bargain.

A large lot (66x118 ft) on the Leighston Road within three minutes walk of the Oak Bay avenue car line at $425, terms $25 cash and balance $10 a month until paid at 8 per cent. This is a genuine bargain and we recommend it to anyone. For full particulars call on Page & MacGregor, 18 Trounce avenue.

Where Are the Boatmen?

What points at first sight to a drowning accident has come to the notice of the provincial police. Mr. Vantreight, of Gordon Head, yesterday gave information of the finding at his place of a small row boat. It is in good condition, and at the time it was washed ashore contained a quantity of provisions, seemingly those of a hunting party. There were no traces which would lead to the identification of the parties who occupied the boat, and the supposition is that they are either lost or that the boat broke away from her moorings. The boat, however, is at Mr. Vantreight's for the owner.

More Wharves Needed.

The bark Titania has commenced discharging her cargo, thus helping to crowd the C P.N. Company's sheds with freight. The Kingston's shed is kept full with N.P.R. freight, and the Islander never lets much space remain in the warehouses reserved for her cargoes. The Yosemite, Victorian, the northern and other boats keep the inside harbor warehouses pretty well filled. If freight continues to come in as it has done, and there is every prospect that it will, there will be need of more wharfage accommodation in the inner harbor before long. There is no room for railroad freight at the outer dock, the wharves being taken up by sailing ships and the ocean steamers.

The Alaska Boundary.

The claim made by Canada, on the strength of Engineer Ogilvie's survey, that the boundary line of Alaska was located too far east, where it crosses the Yukon River, has been confirmed by the report of the surveyors sent out by the United States Government. The 141st Meridian is the line between the two countries, and this crosses the Yukon nearly 40 miles west of where it has been hitherto supposed to cross. This gives Canada the very valuable Forty Mile Creek gold mines, where the President a few months ago appointed a postmaster. North of the Yukon, and on the Porcupine River, Canada has been occupying territory which the new surveys show belongs to Alaska. The eastern bounds of our Northwestern possession are now finally determined.—Seattle Telegraph.

A Clipper Steamer.

The little steamer Angerona, built by McPhee Bros., of New Westminster, for Mr. J. Hunter, came down from the Mainland yesterday to be inspected and have the finishing touches put on her engines, which were built by the Albion Iron Works. The Angerona is built after the model of a torpedo boat, and although only a very small craft, is fitted up with compound engines of 125 horse power. She was taken for a spin yesterday and developed a speed of over 15 knots. After some minor changes have been made in her condenser she is expected to make a record of at least 18 knots. To the nautical eye she is a beauty as regards model. Her cabin, although small, is neat and cosy, and quite a number of people could find shelter in it. It is understood she is to be used as a pleasure craft, and will carry parties who take delight in viewing the splendid scenery on the straits. One thing those who go in her can be sure of, that nothing in these parts will ever pass her.

A Systematic Thief.

There is a systematic burglar in town, and although his depredations have not reached anything like millions of dollars yet, he has been able to commit three robberies without being found out. His plan is to find at the back of a dwelling or store a likely place of entrance. He evidently studies the movements of the occupants before he commences operations. Then he proceeds in a very simple way. The instrument he uses is apparently a knife and glass cutter. With the knife he pares down the window frame till the glass is reached, when he either lifts out the pane, or if it is too large he cuts it in two. The glass is laid aside without any noise or breakage, and the coast is clear.

Lately the robberies that have been committed have been small, the thief having, seemingly, a weakness only for cigars and money. The cigars are taken away loose; the boxes are never removed. Last night Jordan's establishment on Store street was visited, and as a result there are to-day six empty cigar and two cigarette boxes there. There was a small sum of money, amounting to a little over $2, left in the till, taken. The theft must have been committed between 12 o'clock midnight and 2 in the morning, because it is at the latter hour that the watchman there calls the baker. Two boxes of cigars were left on the counter as though the visitor was disturbed in his task. Suspicion rests on a couple of parties who are being watched.

AN IMPROVED ELEVATOR.

Modern Appliances Will be Used in the Five Sisters' Block—Elevators and Heating.

The owners of the Five Sisters' block have determined that modern conveniences shall not be lacking, and are having placed in position one of Hinckle's patent hydraulic elevators. This elevator will not be dependent on the city supply for its motive power, as an accumulator will be used in which the energy of a large duplex Worthington pump can be stored up and used.

This pump, which is fitted with a pair of steam cylinders 10 x 10 inches, and water cylinders 6 x 10 inches, is to be so arranged that it can be used as an air compressor or a water pump. By a system of automatic valves a steady pressure is kept on the receiver, and when the elevator is used part of the water is admitted under heavy pressure into the hoisting engine. The descent of the elevator discharges the water into a tank from which it is pumped again into the receiver.

The elevator cage is to be specially fitted for passenger traffic and will be the first of its kind in the province. It will be suspended by four five-eights inch steel cables, any one of which will sustain double the weight which ever will be put on the elevator. Safety catches will also be provided, and everything which invention and experience can devise made use of to make the elevator perfect.

Two large boilers will furnish steam to the plant, and it is the intention of the owners to have their own engine and dynamos for the generation of electricity for the lighting of the building, although that may not be done at present. The exhaust steam from the compresor pumps is to be used in winter to heat the building. The Albion Iron Works are doing all the mechanical work, and building the machinery.

BOND BUYING.

A Business Which is Seductive But Unreproductive—Its Beauties Explained.

For a long time dealing in "European bonds" has been a favorite gambling pastime with many residents of this city. The agents of this business are a San Francisco firm, who in their advertisements hold out golden promises of big profits in any case, and a sudden enriching of the "bond" buyer if a lucky drawing happens to come off.

The method of buying the bonds is somewhat unique. A first payment of $10 is made, and then 22 monthly payments of $10 each, making $230 in all. If at a "drawing" the number of the bond purchased should happen to show up, the holder gets a big prize, but so far as can be gathered after careful enquiry, no such lucky person has yet been found.

One feature of the purchasing system is a beautiful one—for the agents. It is based on the rule that each monthly payment must be paid within 15 days of the time that it becomes due, or the bond becomes liable to sale at public auction, and any balance left over after expenses of the sale, commissions, etc., are paid is returned to the purchaser. Nothing is returned as a rule. Thus suppose a person has made six payments, or $60, and misses one, he stands a chance to get $30 back, perhaps not so much.

The bonds are without doubt genuine, but what their market value would be in the financial markets of Europe is hard to reckon. Not 100 cents on the dollar it is safe enough to say, and probably very much less.

One feature of the bond selling business is of interest to brokers and others doing business in Victoria. The agents pay nothing into the city treasury in the way of a license, as do insurance and other companies. Thousands of dollars are annually taken out of the city and none of it comes back.

A victim who has made investments in this bond business, said to-day that the scheme was a gamble, pure and simple, and that the Louisiana lottery was a charitable institution compared with the former scheme. It is likely that more will be heard of this business.

An Energetic Soldier.

Colonel McKie, International Travelling Commissioner of the Salvation Army, is specially commissioned by General Booth to visit Canada. He is accompanied by Staff-Captain Plant. Thomas McKie commenced his soldiership in the Salvation Army in 1880. He is a man of great eloquence and energy, and soon made his mark in the army. In 1884 he was appointed A.D.C. to the London district, and soon afterwards promoted to Major and Secretary to Col. Nicol for the London division. In 1885 he was appointed Vice-Principal of the Training Homes, under the Commandant. He was promoted to Colonel in 1889, and subsequently to the important Scottish division, which position he held with credit until he became broken down by rheumatic fever. Since then he has worked in Africa, Australia, New Zealand and California.

Catarrh, Not Local, But Constitutional.

Dr. Dio Lewis, the eminent Boston physician, in a magazine article says: "A radical error underlies nearly all medical treatment of catarrh. It is not a disease of the man's nose; it is a disease of the man, showing itself in the nose—a Local exhibition of a Constitutional trouble." Therefore, he argues, the use of snuff and other local applications is wrong, and while they seem to give temporary relief, they really do more harm than good. Other leading authorities agree with Dr. Lewis. Hence, the only proper method of cure for catarrh is by taking a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which reaching every part of the body through the blood, does eliminate all impurities and makes the whole man healthier. It removes the cause of the trouble and restores the diseased membrane to proper condition. That this is the practical result is proven by thousands of people who have been cured of catarrh by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

OF A VISIT TO PATMOS.

SERMON PREACHED SUNDAY, NOV. 8, BY REV. DR. TALMAGE.

He Tells How He Left Egypt and Voyaging Past Rhodes Reached the Grecian Archipelago and Visited the Island of St. John's Revelation.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 8.—An overflowing congregation at the Brooklyn Tabernacle this morning attested the interest the religious public is taking in the series of sermons Dr. Talmage is preaching on what he saw, confirmatory of the Scriptures, during his tour from the pyramids to the Acropolis. This morning's sermon, the fourth of the series, was on the islands of the Greek archipelago. The doctor took two texts: Acts xxi, 3, "When we had discovered Cyprus we left it on the left hand;" and Revelation i, 9, "I, John, was in the isle that is called Patmos."

Goodby, Egypt! Although interesting and instructive beyond any country in all the world, excepting the Holy Land, Egypt was to me somewhat depressing. It was a post mortem examination of cities that died four thousand years ago. The mummies, or wrapped up bodies of the dead, were prepared with reference to the Resurrection day, the Egyptians departing this life wanting their bodies to be kept in a good condition as possible so that they would be presentable when they were called again to occupy them. But if when Pharaoh comes to resurrection he finds his body looking as I saw his mummy in the museum at Boulac, his soul will become an unwilling tenant. The Sphinx also was to me a stern monstrosity, a statue carved out of rock of red granite sixty-two feet high and about one hundred and forty-three feet long, and having the head of a man and the body of a lion.

We sat down in the sand of the African desert to study it. With a cold smile it has looked down upon thousands of years of earthly history, Egyptian civilization, Grecian civilization, Roman civilization; upon the rise and fall of thrones innumerable; the victory and defeat of the armies of centuries. It took three thousand years to make one wrinkle on its red cheek. It is dreadful in its stolidity. Its eyes have never wept a tear. Its cold ears have not listened to the groans of the Egyptian nation, the burden of which I tried to weigh last Sabbath. Its heart is stone. It cared not for me any more than it cared for the first century. It will care nothing for the man who looks into its imperturbable countenance in the last century.

But Egypt will yet come up to the glow of life. The Bible promises it. The missionaries, like my friend, good and great Dr. Lansing, are sounding a resurrection trumpet above those slain empires. There will be some other Joseph at Memphis. There will be some other Moses on the banks of the Nile. There will be some other Hypatia to teach good morals to the degraded. Instead of a destroying angel to slay the firstborn of Egypt the angel of the New Testament will shake everlasting life from his wings over a nation born in a day. When, soon after my arrival in Egypt, I took part in the solemn and tender obsequies of a missionary from our own land, dying there far away from the sepulchers of her fathers, and saw around her the dusky and weeping congregation of those whom she had come to save, I said to myself: "Here is self sacrifice of the noblest type. Here is heroism immortal. Here is a queen unto God forever. Here is something grander than the pyramids. Here is that which thrills the heavens. Here is a specimen of that which will yet save the world."

GOODBY TO EGYPT.

Goodby, Egypt! This sermon finds us on the steamer Minerva in the Grecian archipelago, the islands of the New Testament, and islands Paulinian and Johannian in their reminiscence. What Bradshaw's directory is to travelers in Europe, and what the railroad guide is to travelers in America, the Book of the Acts in the Bible is to voyagers in the Grecian, or, as I shall call it, the Gospel archipelago. The Bible geography of that region is accurate without a shadow of mistake. We are sailing this morning on the same waters that Paul sailed, but in the opposite direction to that which Paul voyaged. He was sailing southward and we northward. With him it was Ephesus, Coos, Rhodes, Cyprus. With us it is reversed, and it is Cyprus, Rhodes, Coos, Ephesus. There is no book in the world so accurate as the Divine Book.

My text says that Paul left Cyprus on the left; we, going in an opposite direction, have it on the right. On our ship Minerva were only two or three passengers besides our party, so we had plenty of room to walk the deck, and oh, what a night was Christmas night of 1889 in that Grecian archipelago—islands of light above, islands of beauty beneath! It is a royal family of islands, this Grecian archipelago—the crown of the world's scenery set with sapphire and emerald and topaz and chrysoprasus, and ablaze with a glory that seems let down out of celestial landscapes. God evidently made up his mind that just here he would demonstrate the utmost that can be done with islands for the beautification of earthly scenery.

The steamer had stopped during the night, and in the morning the ship was as quiet as this floor, when we hastened up to the deck and found that we had anchored off the island of Cyprus. In a boat, which the natives rowed standing up, as is the custom, instead of sitting down, as when we row, we were soon landed on the streets where Paul and Barnabas walked and preached. Yes, when at Antioch, Paul and Barnabas got into a fight—as ministers sometimes did, and sometimes do, for they all have imperfections enough to anchor them to this world till their work is done. Easy—when, because of that bitter controversy, Paul and Barnabas parted, Barnabas came back here to Cyprus, which was his birthplace. Island, wonderful for history! It has been the prize sometimes won by Persia, by Greece, by Egypt, by the Saracens, by the Crusaders, and last of all, not by sword but by pen, and that the pen of the keenest diplomatist of the century, Lord Beaconsfield, who, under a lease which was as good as a purchase, set Cyprus among the jewels of Victoria's crown.

We went out into the excavations from which Di Cesnola has enriched our American museums with antiquities, and with no better weapon than our foot we stirred up the ground deep enough to get a tear bottle in which some mourner shed his tears thousands of years ago, and a lamp which before Christ was born lighted the feet of some poor pilgrim on his way. That island of Cyprus has enough to set an antiquarian wild. The most of its glory is the glory of the past, and the typhoid fevers that sweep its coast, and the clouds of locusts that often blacken its skies (though two hundred thousand dollars were expended by the British empire in one year for the extirpation of these noxious insects, yet failing to do the work), and the frequent change of governmental masters hinder prosperity.

CYPRUS WILL YET COME TO GOD.

But when the islands of the sea come to God, Cyprus will come with them, and the agricultural and commercial opulence which adorned it in ages past will be eclipsed by the agricultural and commercial and religious triumphs of the ages to come. Why is the world so stupid that it cannot see that nations are prospered in temporal things in proportion as they are prospered in religious things? Godliness is profitable not only for individuals, but for nations. Questions of tariff, questions of silver bill, questions of republic or monarchy have not so much to do with a nation's temporal welfare as questions of religion. Give Cyprus to Christ, give England to Christ, give America to Christ, give the world to Christ, and he will give them all a prosperity unlimited. Why is Brooklyn one of the queen cities of the earth? Because it is the queen city of churches.

Blindfold me and lead me into any city of the earth so that I cannot see a street or a warehouse or a home, and then lead me into the churches and then remove the bandage from my eyes, and I will tell you from what I see inside the consecrated walls, having seen nothing outside, what is that city's merchandise, its literature, its schools, its printing presses, its government, its homes, its arts, its sciences, its prosperity or its depression, and ignorance and pauperism and outlawry. The altar of God in the church is the high water mark of the world's happiness. The Christian religion triumphant, all other interests triumphant. The Christian religion low down, all other interests low down. So I thought on the evening of that day we stepped from the filthy streets of Larnaca, Cyprus, onto the boat that took us back to the steamer Minerva, which had already begun to paw the waves like a courser impatient to be gone, and then we moved on and up among the islands of this Gospel archipelago.

Night came down on land and sea and the voyage became to me more and more suggestive and solemn. If you are pacing it alone a ship's deck in the darkness and at sea is a weird place, and an active imagination may conjure up almost any shape he will, and it shall walk the sea or confront him by the smokestack or meet him under the captain's bridge. But here I was alone on ship's deck in the Gospel archipelago, and do you wonder that the sea was populous with the past and that down the ratlines Bible memories descended? Our friends had all gone to their berths.

"Captain," I said, "when will we arrive at the Island of Rhodes?" Looking out from under his gland cap, he responded in sepulchral voice, "About midnight." Though it would be keeping unreasonable hours, I concluded to stay on deck, for I must see Rhodes, one of the islands associated with the name of the greatest missionary the world ever saw or ever will see. Paul landed there, and that was enough to make it famous while the world stands, and famous in heaven when the world has become a charred wreck.

A WONDERFUL HISTORY.

This island has had a wonderful history. With six thousand Knights of St. John, it at one time stood out against two hundred thousand warriors under "Solyman the Magnificent." The city had three thousand statues, and a statue to Apollo called Colossus, which has always since been considered one of the seven wonders of the world. It was twelve years in building and was seventy cubits high, and had a winding stairs to the top. It stood fifty-six years and then was prostrated by an earthquake. After lying in ruins for nine hundred years, it was purchased to be converted to other purposes, and the metal, weighing seven hundred and twenty thousand pounds, was put on nine hundred camels and carried away. We were not permitted to go ashore, but the lights all up and down the hills show where the city stands, and nine boats come out to take freight and to bring three passengers. Yet all the thousands of years of its history are eclipsed by the few hours or days that Paul stopped there.

As I stood there on the deck of the Minerva, looking out upon the place where the Colossus once stood, I bethought myself of the fact that the world must have a God of some kind. It is to me an infinite pathos—this Colossus not only of Rhodes, but the colossi in many parts of the earth. This is only the world's blind reaching up and feeling after God. Fountered human nature must have a supernatural arm to help it ashore. All the statues and images of heathendom are attempts to bring celestial forces down into human affairs. Blessed be our ears that we have heard of an ever present God, and that through Jesus Christ he comes into our hearts and our homes, and with more than fatherly and motherly interest and affection he is with us in all our struggles and bereavements and vicissitudes. Rhodes needs something higher than the Colossus, and the day will come when the Christ, whom Paul was serving when he sailed into the harbor of Rhodes, shall take possession of that island.

As we move on up through this archipelago, I am reminded of what an important part the islands have taken in the history of the world. They are necessary to the balancing of the planet. The two hemispheres must have them. As you put down upon a scale the heavy pound weights, and then the small ounces—and no one thinks of despising the small weights—so the continents are the pounds and the islands are the ounces. A continent is only a larger island, and an island only a smaller continent. Something of what part the islands have taken in the world's history you will see when I remind you that the Island of Salamis produced Solon, and that the Island of Chios produced Homer, and the Island of Samos produced Pythagoras, and the Island of Coos produced Hippocrates.

HE LONGED TO SEE PATMOS.

But there is one island that I longed to see more than any other. I can afford to miss the princes among the islands, but I must see the king of the archipelago. The one I longed to see is not so many miles in circumference as Cyprus or Crete or Paros or Naxos or Scio or Mitylene, but I had rather, in this sail through the Grecian archipelago, see that than all the others, for more of the glories of heaven landed there than on all the islands and continents since the world stood. As we come toward it I feel my pulses quicken. "I, John, was in the island that is called Patmos." It is a pile of rocks twenty-eight miles in circumference. A few cypresses and inferior olives pump a living out of the earth, and one palm tree spreads its foliage. But the barrenness and gloom and loneliness of the island made it a prison for the banished evangelist.

Domitian could not stand his ministry and one day, under armed guard, the minister of the Gospel stepped from a rowing boat to these dismal rocks and walked up to the dismal cavern which was to be his home and the place where should pass before him all the conflicts of coming time and all the raptures of a coming eternity. Is it not remarkable that nearly all the great revelations of music and poetry and religion have been made to men in banishment—Homer and Milton banished into blindness; Beethoven banished into deafness; Dante writing his "Divina Commedia" during the nineteen years of banishment from his native land; Victor Hugo writing his "Les Miserables" exiled from home and country on the island of Guernsey, and the brightest visions of the future have been given to those who by sickness or sorrow were exiled from the outer world into rooms of suffering. Only those who have been imprisoned by very hard surroundings have had great revelations made to them.

So Patmos, wild, chill and bleak and terrible was the best island in all the archipelago, the best place in all the earth for divine revelations. Before a panorama can be successfully seen, the room in which you sit must be darkened, and in the presence of John was to pass such a panorama as no man ever before saw or ever will see in this world, and hence the gloom of his surroundings was a help rather than a hindrance. All the surroundings of the place affected St. John's imagery when he speaks of heaven. St. John, hungry from enforced abstinence, or having no food except that at which his appetite revolts, thinks of heaven; and as the famished man sees in dream of bountiful tables covered with banquets, so St. John says he sees the inhabitants of heaven "They shall hunger no more." Scarcity of fresh water on Patmos and the hot tongue of St. John's thirst leads him to admire heaven as he says, "They shall thirst no more."

St. John hears the waves of the sea wildly dashing against the rocks, and each wave has a voice, and all the waves together make a chorus, and they remind him of the multitudinous anthems of heaven, and he says, "They are like the voice of many waters." One day, as he looked off upon the sea, the waters were very smooth, as it is to-day while we sail them in the Minerva, and they were like glass, and the sunlight seemed to set them on fire, and there was a mingling of white light and intense flame, and as St. John looked out from his cavern home upon that brilliant sea he thought of the splendors of heaven and describes them "As a sea of glass mingled with fire." Yes, seated in the dark cavern of Patmos, though homesick and hungry and loaded with Domitian's anathemas, St. John was the most fortunate man on earth because of the panorama that passed before the mouth of that cavern.

THE PANORAMA PASSES.

Turn down all the lights that we may better see it. The panorama passes, and lo! the conquering Christ, robed, girdled, armed, the flash of golden candlesticks and seven stars in his right hand, candlesticks and stars meaning light held up and light scattered. And there passes a throne and Christ on it, and the seals broken, and the woes sounded, and a dragon slain, and seven last plagues swoop, and seven vials are poured out, and the vision vanishes. And we halt a moment to rest from the exciting spectacle. Again the panorama moves on before the cavern of Patmos, and John the exile sees a great city representing all abominations, Babylon towered, palaced, templed, fountained, foliaged, sculptured, hanging gardens, suddenly going crash! crash! and the pipers cease to pipe, and the trumpets cease to trumpet, and the dust, and the smoke, and the horror fill the canvas, while from above and beneath are voices announcing, "Babylon is fallen, is fallen!" And we halt again to rest from the spectacle.

Again the panorama passes before the cavern of Patmos, and John the exile sees a mounted Christ on a snow white charger leading forth the cavalry of heaven, the long line of white chargers galloping through the scene, the clattering of hoofs, the clinking of bridle bits, and the flash of spears, all the earth conquered and all heaven in Doxology. And we halt again to rest from the spectacle. Again the panorama passes before the cavern of Patmos, and John the exile sees great thrones lifted, thrones of martyrs, thrones of apostles, thrones of prophets, thrones of patriarchs, and a throne higher than all on which Jesus sits, and ponderous books are opened, their leaves turned over, revealing the names of all that have ever lived, the good and the bad, the renowned and the humble, the mighty and the weak, and at the turn of every leaf the universe is in rapture or fright, and the sea empties its sarcophagus of all the dead of the sunken shipping, and the earth gives way, and the heavens vanish. Again we rest a moment from the spectacle.

The panorama moves on before the cavern of Patmos, and John the exile beholds a city of gold, and a river more beautiful than the Rhine or the Hudson rolls through it, and fruit trees bend their burdens on either bank, and all is surrounded by walls in which the upholstery of autumnal forests, and the sunrises and sunsets of all the ages, and the glory of burning worlds seem to be commingled. And the inhabitants never breathe a sigh, or utter a groan, or discuss a difference, or frown a dislike, or weep a tear. The fashion they wear is pure white, and their foreheads are encircled by garlands, and they who were sick are well, and they who were old are young, and they who were bereft are reunited. And as the last figure of that panorama rolled out of sight I think that John must have fallen back into his cavern nerveless and exhausted. Too much was it for naked eye to look at. Too much was it for human strength to experience.

LAST WORDS OF HAPPY CHRISTIANS.

My friends, I would not wonder if you should have a very similar vision after awhile. You will be through with this world, its cares and fatigues and struggles, and if you have served the Lord and have done the best you could, I should not wonder if your dying bed were a Patmos. It often has been so. I was reading of a dying boy who, while the family stood around sorrowfully, expecting each breath would be the last, cried: "Open the gates! Open the gates! Happy! Happy! Happy!" John Owen, in his last hour, said to his attendant, "Oh, brother Payne! the long wished for day has come at last!" Rutherford, in the closing moment of his life, cried out: "I shall shine, I shall see him as he is, and all the fair company with him, and shall have my large share. I have gotten the victory. Christ is holding forth his arms to embrace me. Now I feel: Now I enjoy! Now I rejoice! I feel on manna. I have angels' food. My eyes will see my Redeemer. Glory, glory dwelleth in Immanuel's land." Yes, ten thousand times in the history of the world has the dying bed been made a Patmos.

You see the time will come when you will, oh, child of God, be exiled to your last sickness as much as John was exiled to Patmos. You will go into your room not to come out again, for God is going to do something better and grander and happier for you than he has ever yet done. There will be such visions let down to your pillow as God gives no man if he is ever to return to this tame world. The apparent feeling of uneasiness and restlessness in the time of the Christian's departure, physicians say, is caused by no real stress. It is an unconscious and involuntary movement, and I think in many cases it is the vision of heavenly gladness too great for mortal endurance. It is only heaven breaking in on the departing spirit.

You see your work will be done and the time for your departure will be at hand, and there will be wings over you and wings under you, and songs let loose on the air, and your old father and mother gone for years will descend into the room, and your little children whom you put away for the last sleep years ago will be at your side, and their kiss will be on your foreheads, and you will see gardens in full bloom, and the swinging open of shining gates, and will hear voices long ago hushed.

A SUPERNAL FACT.

In many a Christian departure that you have known and I have known there was in the phraseology of the departing ones something that indicated the reappearance of those long deceased. It is no delirium, no delusion, but a supernal fact. Your glorified loved ones will hear that you are about to come, and they will say in heaven: "May I go down to show that soul the way up? May I be the celestial escort? May I wait for that soul at the edge of the pillow?" And the Lord will say: "Yes. You may fly down on that mission." And I think all your glorified kindred will come down, and they will be in the room, and although those in health standing around you may hear no voice and see no arrival from the heavenly world, you will see and hear. And the moment the fleshly bond of the soul shall break, the cry will be: "Follow me! Up this way! By this gilded cloud, past these stars, straight for home, straight for glory, straight for God!"

As on that day in the Grecian archipelago, Patmos began to fade out of sight, I walked to the stern of the ship that I might keep my eye on the enchantment as long as I could, and the voice that sounded out of heaven to John the exile in the cavern on Patmos seemed sounding in the waters that dashed against the side of our ship. "Behold the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people and God himself shall be with them and be their God; and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain, for the former things are passed away."

Can You Eat

Heartily, with relish, and without distress afterwards? If not, we recommend to you Hood's Sarsaparilla, which crates a good appetite and so invigorates the stomach and bowels that the food is properly digested and all its nutriment assimilated.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, effective, but do not cause pain or gripe. Be sure to get Hood's.

ADVENTURES IN BRAZIL.

Returning Emigrants Tell of Severe Hardships Encountered.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Several of the immigrants from Brazil who were recently landed at Southampton have returned to their homes in Bedford, Leeds and other places. They were entirely destitute, and the Southampton authorities, who claim that they have been wrongfully burdened with the relief of hundreds of emigrants coming back to England in a similar condition, insisted at first on sending them to the workhouse, but money was at once contributed to take them to their respective homes. One of the emigrants, a weaver named Hutchins, who lost his work owing to the McKinley bill, tells a story of his adventures in Brazil. Hutchins went to Brazil without his family, whom he intended to send for after settling down. He was taken with a man named Wilson to the province of Goyaz, where he was employed by a planter on the Maranhao River. Instead of being given a farm he was made to work and live with the negro hands, who were liberated slaves. The heat was terrible to the two Englishmen, and the association with the negroes even worse. All sorts of insects infested their quarters, one in particular gouging under the skin and establishing itself in the flesh, causing fearful agony. Wild beasts and serpents abounded, for they were on the confines of the unexplored forest. Hutchins saw a negro seized while at work near the river by an immense anaconda, which crushed the life out of its victim and then retreated out of sight in the foliage. The groans of the negro when seized by the great snake were fearful. Smaller snakes were so common as not to attract attention. The negroes were but little above barbarians, and went almost without clothing when at work. The head overseer, a halfbreed, lashed them at will, sometimes until they fell fainting from loss of blood. If a negro died the body was thrown into the forest to be devoured as the cheapest way of burial. The Englishmen were not lashed, and worked about as they pleased, being sick most of the time. They were also promised wages and farms in an indefinite future. Hutchins and his companions made their escape and tried to follow the line of the river, hoping to meet one of the boats that sometimes passed. The first night they tried to sleep in a tree, but were kept awake by the roars of a jaguar. In the morning they were beginning to descend, when one fell and broke one of his legs. Hutchins remained by him until he died a few hours later, death being caused apparently by weakness and agony of mind. Hutchins gathered leaves to cover the body, which rapidly decomposed, but he soon saw a large vulture hovering and descend on the corpse. Then other vultures came so rapidly that Hutchins saw it would be dangerous to interfere. They soon devoured the body before his eyes, the bones being picked clean. After the vultures had gone Hutchins covered the bones as well as possible and found his way to the plantation. He claimed that he and Wilson had wandered off accidentally. As he persistently refused to work he was released and sent back by river to Para, where he was returned to England.

Hidden Treasure Found.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 13.—Thomas, Joseph and William Jones, little boys, found on Wednesday about $800 in gold and silver, hidden in a hole on the border of a wood near Miner's Mills. They were scraping away some dirt to build a little fort when they came on the money. Their discovery gives rise to two questions, one involving the guilt or innocence of a man now in prison, and the other forming an interesting point about a celebrated murder. Five months ago, Henry Myers, a driver for Richards and Co., came into town and told a startling story of having been held up by highwaymen near Miner's Mills and relieved of a large sum of money belonging to his employers. His story was not believed and he was arrested, tried for larceny, convicted and sentenced to three years, which he is now serving. He now says that the money found by the boys is the sum stolen from him and hidden by the highwaymen. Why they should bury it is not explained, but his attorneys are investigating and hope to prove that Myers is innocent. The other story is that the money is part of the boodle of the McClure murder. It was found within a mile of the scene of the crime. Capt. Linden, who was engaged on the McClure case, discovered that not all of the $1200 stolen had been taken to Italy by Bevienco and Vellatas, and "Red Nosed Mike," just before he was hanged, said there was some of the money still hidden. The little boys have advertised in legal form, and should no owner be found they will keep the money.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Charles Planchotte, well known in the theatrical world, died at 5 o'clock yesterday morning in Bloomingdale asylum. He was the advance agent of Charles Frohman's "All the Comforts of Home" company, and when in Washington about three weeks ago was so afflicted that it was deemed advisable to send him to this city.

A PRECIOUS HUMP.

The Queer Hiding Place of a Beggar's Wealth.

Every day for years past might have been seen on the steps of the church of St. Sulpice, writes the Paris correspondent of a London contemporary, a venerable mendicant with a hump on his back, which, by the way, did not diminish with age, but, on the contrary, grew in a most abnormal manner. It was not until the beggar was gathered to his fathers that an explanation of the phenomenon was forthcoming. Pere Antoine was a canny old man who did not make ducks and drakes of the alms which he received. He spent very little and invested his steadily increasing capital in shares, which, with a certain amount of gold and silver, he kept in a bag securely tied over his ragged coat. Mysterious hints as to the importance of his savings led several people to show him considerable attention, and among them was a neighbor to whom he had promised the whole of his little fortune. A few months ago he was taken ill suddenly, and one night while delirious he jumped out of a window and so put an end to his days. The neighbor immediately possessed himself of the bag and found that it contained share certificates and money to the amount of nearly twenty thousand dollars. Unluckily, however, for him he soon ascertained that Pere Antoine had two relatives to whom he had bequeathed his savings in a will. The good neighbor sent them the contents of the bag, with the exception of four thousand dollars which he retained for himself, and the words: "Your uncle is an old rascal" which he forwarded on a piece of note paper with the parcel led to his discovery. He was prosecuted for theft and was condemned to two years' imprisonment.

HAGGLED WITH WORTH.

And the Famous Man Milliner Felt His Dignity Seriously Outraged.

Every man has his price, though it is in the case of renowned persons occasionally high. No man understands this better than Worth, the man milliner, as any woman who wears his confections can vouch for. There is a good story, says the New York Recorder, told of how one misguided woman ventured to remonstrate with the faiseur de chiffons because he charged her six hundred dollars for a dress, which at first sight seems to ordinary people rather an inexpensive gown.

"The material," said the lady, "could be bought for one hundred dollars, and surely the work of making up would be well paid with twenty-five dollars more."

"Madam," replied the outraged tailor, in his loftiest manner, "go to M. Constant, the painter, and say to him: 'Here is a canvas and colors, value one dollar. Paint me a picture on that canvas with these paints and I will pay you thirty-three and one-third cents.' What will be the answer? 'Madam, this is no payment for an artist.' No, but I say more. If you think my terms are too high keep the dress and pay me nothing. Art does not descend to the pettiness of haggling."

History does not record the lady's reply.

LIKE A FAIRY TALE.

How a Poor Young Man Got a Diamond for His Girl.

A charming girl had a fine pair of solitaire diamond earrings and she lost one of them to her infinite sorrow. She could not find it anywhere, and after months of grief and spasmodic search she resigned herself to doing without diamond earrings. Having lost the mate of it she did not know what to do with a single stone, but she was full of womanly invention. She was engaged to a struggling young man without money except what he earned, and unable to bestow diamonds upon his fiancee. One day, says the New York Press, she was walking with her sweetheart, and suddenly pausing she pointed to a point of light in the street and said: "What is that—a diamond?" He stopped and picked it up with delight and surprise. "I suppose whoever lost such a gem will advertise it," he said. "Well, you keep it," said she, "until it is advertised for, and if it is not you can have it set in a ring for me." She wears the ring now and he does not know yet why that diamond was not advertised for or that his sweetheart dropped it in the street for him to find and have set into the ring she knew he was not able to buy.

Italian Brigands.

The Infame Legge, which was discovered a short time ago in Andria, is an organization similar to the Mala Vita, although far less notorious. The confiscation of its account books in the house of a member led to the revelation of interesting details of its management. A candidate for membership received instruction in fencing and shooting for two dollars monthly. After acquiring the necessary amount of skill for his murderous calling he became a "neophyte." The chief, during the ceremony of admission, cut the candidate in the breast with a dagger, and then the candidate, with his hand on the bloody weapon, swore loyalty to the society. The steps of promotions were indicated by the titles "neophyte," "regular," "the initiated" and "chief." In Barletta the Infame Legge had a woman's branch organization. The first arrest of members of the society took place on June 20 in Andria. In one hour fifty of these declared highwaymen and murderers were captured, and the work of hunting them down is still in progress. The name of the society means literally "infamous law."

A Test of Life.

The difficulty of distinguishing certain forms of comatose sleep from actual death has suggested all sorts of ingenious tests, such as holding a looking-glass in front of the nostrils, or forcing a spray of water against the closed eyelids. A still more decisive experiment, however, consists in injecting the pale skin of the upper arm with a strong solution of ammonia. If a spark of life lingers it will betray itself by the appearance of a red spot.

Purify The importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. In its preparation, its medicinal merit, and the wonderful cures it accomplishes Hood's Sarsaparilla is Peculiar to Itself. Thousands testify to its success, and the best advertising Hood's Sarsaparilla receives is the hearty endorsement of its army of friends. Every testimonial we publish, and every statement we make on behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla may be relied upon as strictly true in every respect.

Your Blood

If you need a good blood purifier or building up medicine, be sure to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Further information and statements of cures sent free to all who address us as below.

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO

There settled in Baker county, Oregon, near what is now Baker City, a man who has since become identified with the resources and development of that country. This man is no other than Mr. John Stewart, one of the wealthiest and most influential citizens in the county. In a recent letter he says: "I had been suffering from pains in my back and general kidney complaint for some time, and had used many remedies without any but temporary relief. The pains in my back had become so severe that I was prevented from attending to my work and cannot move about without the use of a cane. Hearing through a friend, of the wonderful cures effected by Oregon Kidney Tea, I was induced to try a box, and from that very first dose I found instant relief, and before using half the contents of the box the pains in my back entirely disappeared. I have every faith in the virtues of the Oregon Kidney Tea, and can conscientiously recommend it to my friends. I would not be without it for anything."

Oregon Kidney Tea cures backache, incontinence of urine, brick dust sediment, burning or painful sensation while urinating, and all affections of the kidneys or urinary organs of either sex.

COAL

The New Vancouver Coal Mining & Land Co., Ld.

(FORMERLY THE VANCOUVER COAL CO.),

ARE THE LARGEST COAL PRODUCERS ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

THE NANAIMO COAL (Used principally for Gas and Domestic Purposes.)

THE SOUTH FIELD COAL (Steam Fuel).

THE NEW WELLINGTON COAL

House and Steam Coal are mined by this Company only.

THE "NANAIMO" COAL gives a large percentage of Gas, a high Illuminating Power unequalled by any other bituminous Gas Coal in the world, and a superior quality of Coke.

THE "SOUTH FIELD" COAL is now used on all the Leading Steamship Lines on the Pacific.

THE "NEW WELLINGTON" COAL which was introduced early in the present year, has already become a favorite fuel for domestic purposes. It is a clean, hard coal, makes a bright and cheerful fire, and its lasting qualities make it the most economical fuel in the market.

The several Mines of the Company are connected with their Wharves at Nanaimo and Departure Bay where ships of the largest tonnage are loaded at all states of the tide. Special dispatch given to Mail and Ocean steamers.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

Matters of Interest Going Forward in the Sporting World Here and Elsewhere.

THE TURF

GOSSIP IN GENERAL.

Mr. P. Lorillard is showing his wisdom by buying only approved performers. His latest purchase is the speedy 2-year old Curt Gunn, by Onandaga—Sophorina by Ted Broeck. This colt has won close upon $25,000 this season, and the price reported to be paid for him is in the neighborhood of $15,000.

The black mare Ophir, by Simmons, which made a record of 2:20½ on a half-mile track at Lexington, Ky., a few days since, dropped dead yesterday while being exercised on the track at Cynthiana. The mare was owned by Wilson & Handy, and was valued at $10,000.

At a meeting of the American Turf Congress at St. Paul, Nov. 19, it is probable that two of the strongest tracks in that part of the country will withdraw from the circuit. They are the Washington Park Club and the St. Louis Jockey Club. The main cause of dissatisfaction is the rule which forbids races under a mile for 3-year-olds and over. The St. Louis Club also objects to the action of the Latonia Jockey Club in preparing a programme for a 30 days meeting next fall, which will conflict with the St. Louis meeting.

We have received a copy of the Australasian containing a list of entries for the Melbourne Cup, a race for $50,000, to be run on Nov. 3. There are in all 133 horses eligible to run, and of the number the favorites are Carbine 10 st 12 lbs, Tirailleur, 9—6, Curassier 9—2, The Admiral 9, Greygown, 8—7, Chintz 8—1, Gatling 7—10.

There was no high jump record breaking at the Boston horse show last week. Filemaker, Roseberry and Queensbury all jumped 7 ft. 3 in., and the purse of $300 was divided among them, George Pepper getting two-thirds as the owner of Roseberry and Queensbury.

Lord Rosslyn has bought the stallion Peter, by Hermit, for $30,000. Peter won the Middle Park Plate in 1878, and is now 15 years old.

George Barrett heads the list of winning jockeys in England with 115 firsts out of 556 mounts, Mornington Cannon coming second with 113 out of 502, and J. Watts third with 107 out of 485. Tom Cannon is credited with 20 wins out of 81 mounts.

The Duke of Beaufort is said to have won £6000 over the success of Ragimunde in the Cesarewitch.

THE OAR.

NOTES FROM WESTMINSTER.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 14.—McLean left this morning for San Francisco via Vancouver, full of confidence that he is going to come out on top on the river. Stephenson, the Australian, left for Victoria this morning. In a letter received by Stephenson yesterday, came news that Sullivan, the New Zealand wonder, was nearly drowned by falling out of his shell and was laid up for some time from the effects of the ducking.

ATHLETICS.

The Victoria Athletic club, established in an old building on Yates street a number of years ago, has been steadily improving until to-day it ranks among the best athletic clubs on the coast. Since they removed to their new room over Brackman & Ker's store they have added many things to their rooms, but the greatest convenience for the members, is now ready. It consists of a number of well fitted up bath rooms. Other improvements are to follow, among them classes for teaching sparring, fencing, wrestling, etc. Mr. Smith has been engaged to teach sparring and he will open his class on Monday evening.

Brazilian Affairs.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—An official telegram was received in this city to-day from Rio Janeiro regarding the diplomatic services and the condition of the finances of the country. The dispatch states that all legations hitherto established in the various European and other countries will be maintained. Relative to the financial situation in Brazil, at least so far as the government is concerned, the dispatch says all conditions are extremely satisfactory to the authorities.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Santiago correspondent of the Times says:—Further advices from Rio Grande do Sul are to the effect that the garrison at San Gabriel have also revolted against the dictatorship of Fonseca. A later telegram says in the Rio Grande do Sul the opposition to Fonseca is triumphing almost wholly throughout the province, without serious fighting.

LONDON, Nov. 14—General Astogildo, in command of the Nationist force in Rio Grande do Sul, has occupied several stategic points and is preparing to meet the Dictator's troops should they really mean to try and subdue that province. It is believed, however, that the northern province of Minas Geraes and other provinces will soon be heard from in the Dictator's rear, and that this may alter his present plans considerably. People generally are enthusiastically supporting the Nationalist army, and are freely contributing food and fodder for its maintenance.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Senor Mendenca, the Brazilian Minister, has received the following telegram from Senor Charmont, Minister of Foreign Affairs: "I am in receipt of your telegram of yesterday. News of secession of Rio Grande or any other state is untrue. We are in perfect peace." A telegram from the capital of Rio Grande published in to-day's paper officially says: "The Board of Commercial Representatives of trade and people went to the governor's house and asked Governor Castillo, in view of the circumstances of the state, due to causes known to him, to resign his office in order to avoid a martial conflict. Governor Castillo resigned and a provisional junta was organized as follows:—Assez Brazil, Casal Riesero, and General Osorio. Tranquility is established and public opinion satisfied.

A Serious Revolt.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 14.—A most serious revolt broke out on November 10th near Foo Choo, one of the treaty ports and capital of the province of Foo Kin, on the Min River. The rebels had for some time had full sway and marched in force upon Tehwei, sacked the town of everything valuable, burned a number of houses to the ground, killed several persons and at last advices were resting after their labors preparatory to sacking other towns. The Chinese authorities at Foo Choo are reported to be contemplating energetic measures for the suppression of this revolt. The same state of sullen silence prevails in Government circles. It looks very much like the lull before a storm, diplomatic or otherwise.

PERSONAL.

Movements of Well Known People in Various Directions.

M. Lenz has left for England on business.

Chas. Wilson returned from New Westminster last night.

James Authors, of Authors & Cox, Toronto, is at the Driard.

Col. McKie and Staff-Capt. Plant are at the Salvation Army barracks, Pandora street.

Capt. James Carroll, Alaska's Representative in Congress and master of the steamship Queen, is registered at the Dallas Hotel.

Chief of Police Sheppard has gone to Nanaimo and will return to-morrow. Sergt. Walker gracefully performed the duties of master of ceremonies in the city police court this morning.

WHARF AND WAVE.

Jottings of Interest to Marine Men Concisely Compiled.

The steamer Zambezi of the Upton Line is due here Dec. 1st.

Steamer Muriel from northern canneries is lying at Spratt's wharf.

Steamer Maude sailed for Nanaimo and way ports this afternoon with a heavy general cargo.

The steamer Batavia of the Upton Line sails from Hong Kong for this coast on the 20th inst.

Steamer Velos of Vancouver, brought in a scow load of lumber this morning and left again this afternoon.

Steamer Mystery, which which went down to Carmanah Point to bring up the shipwrecked crew of the bark Sarah is expected in to-night.

Steamer Thistle leaves for Clayoquot and way ports this evening. She will lock up the wreck of the bark Sarah and see if any salvaging can be done.

The whaleback steamer Wetmore has been heard from at Valparaiso, Chili, where she touched last Friday. She is expected at Port Townsend the latter part of the present month.

The British ship City of Delhi has arrived at San Francisco after a short voyage of 108 days from Antwerp. This is the quickest run from the port named this year. The American ship Spartan made the voyage in 101 days in 1883 and the Linlithgowshire accomplished it in 104 days in 1888.

Lumber freights are weak and almost nominal, as the business offering is practically nil. Quotations are as follows: From Burrard Inlet or Puget Sound to Sydney, 44s; Melbourne, Adelaide or Port Pirie, 52s 6d; Valparaiso, 45s; Cork for orders, 70s; China and Japan quotations are nominal. Grain freights from San Francisco to the United Kingdom were last quoted for 35s 9d for iron vessels. With the advance in the price of wheat owners of spot vessels have had to give way, to induce business. Coal freights: Nanaimo or Departure Bay to San Francisco, $2.50; from Puget Sound to San Francisco, $2.25 per ton.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

In the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

Between Victoria Lumber and Manufacturing Company, Limited, Plaintiffs,

AND

Edward Marston and Orlando Marston doing business under the firm name of E. & O. Marston, Defendants.

To Edward Marston and Orlando Marston:

TAKE NOTICE that a writ of summons has been issued out of the Supreme Court of British Columbia against you on the 13th day of November, 1891, at the suit of the above-named Plaintiffs for the sum of $154.41 on which writ the following endorsement appears:

The Plaintiffs' claim is for the price of goods sold and delivered.

The following are the particulars:

1891.	DR.
March 31—To amount of account rendered		$204 41
	CR.
June 13—By Cash	$25 00
July 13— " "	25 00
		50 00
		$154 41

And the Plaintiffs claim $154.41.

The Plaintiffs also claim interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum on $154 41 of the above sum from the date of the writ until judgment, and the sum of $25 (or such sum as may be allowed on taxation) for costs. If the amount be paid to the Plaintiffs or their solicitor or agent within four days from the service hereof, further proceedings will be stayed.

And further take notice that by an order of the Hon. Mr. Justice Drake made the 13th day of November, 1891, it was ordered that the service of the said writ of summons and of the said order by inserting an advertisement in one issue of some daily newspaper published in the city of Victoria of the commencement of this action and of the said order and service of copy writ at their last known place of business in Victoria should be good and sufficient service of the writ herein.

If you do not enter an appearance to the said writ either personally or by solicitor at the office of the Registrar of the Court at Victoria within 8 days after the publication of this notice, judgment will be signed against you.
